“Great Hospitality - Was greeted with a welcome drink, the receptionist is friendly and helpful. Good understanding of english and always smiling. We had buggy to bring us to our villa and they are always a phone call away. The villa was beautiful and spacious. Great for family vacation. We enjoyed our stay and had fun in the pool. If it wasn't for the weather, we would have a longer time in the pool or at the beach. Thank you for the great service. Well recommended.”

Eid al-Fitr in Indonesia

A Festive Celebration of Faith, Food, and Family

Eid al-Fitr in Indonesia marks the end of Ramadan, a month dedicated to fasting, prayer, and self-discipline

The celebrations begin with the Eid prayer, held in the morning, where Muslims gather in mosques or open fields, wearing their best clothes. The prayer is a moment of gratitude for the strength and patience shown during the fast. The night before Eid, known as Lailatul Qadar (Night of Power), is filled with prayer and contemplation, while children excitedly roam the streets chanting takbir, adding to the festive atmosphere.

After the prayers, families gather together to enjoy a festive feast featuring traditional dishes such as Rendang, Ketupat, Opor, and various sweet treats such as nastar and kastengel.

The celebration is also characterized by acts of generosity, with Muslims giving zakat fitrah, a form of charity that ensures those in need can join in the festivities. Eid al-Fitr is not only a religious celebration, but also a time to strengthen bonds within the community. In Indonesia, the holiday brings families together, with many traveling long distances to reunite with loved ones.

Beyond the delicious food and festive atmosphere, Eid al-Fitr serves as a reminder of the importance of compassion, gratitude, and a shared responsibility to care for others. It is a day of joy and reflection, offering an opportunity to renew relationships and foster a sense of unity.

Beach Cleaning

Nirwana Gardens are identical with their beautiful beaches that offer guests a tranquil escape with stunning views of the ocean, white sands, and the soothing sounds of waves. Therefore, clean beaches on our resort are essential for guest safety, environmental sustainability, and maintaining the reputation. A clean beach also helps to protect the local ecosystem, ensuring the health of marine life, birds, and coastal vegetation.

There will be volunteers from Nirwana Gardens to help with the beach cleaning every month. In early 2025, the first beach cleaning was already done on 9 January 2025 at Pulau Putus, a small island that links La-luna. It's like a hidden place where you can only cross to the island during Low tide, they have the beautiful white sands and crystal clear water which feels like a perfect untouched paradise.

The process of beach cleaning is smooth as all of the team are very united. The team exemplifies how group efforts may significantly benefit the preservation of natural environments by fostering a sense of community, collaboration, and environmental responsibility where the beach ecosystem depends on our care.
